Boeing-Built Anik F2 Satellite Ready for Launch

A key feature of the Boeing 702 is its ability to deliver broadband services to specific geographic regions using "spot beam" technology that maximizes the system's capacity by concentrating coverage on prime service areas rather than spreading it out over a wide geographic region. Anik F2's coverage area will provide consumers coast-to-coast with access to Ka-band broadband services.

###