Boeing Rolls Out 500th Next-Generation 737 Jetliner

Boeing prepares the 500th Next-Generation 737 jetliner for rollout from the final assembly plant in Renton, Wash. - just two years after the Next-Generation 737 entered service. No other jetliner in history has reached the 500 mark in so short a time. The airplane, a 737-700, is scheduled to be delivered to Scandinavian Airlines System (SAS) in March.

###

For further information:
Bob Saling
(425) 237-3657