Boeing Rapid Response Center Provides Technical Expertise

The Boeing Company's new Rapid Response Center, which began full operation this month, is staffed by a dedicated group of technical specialists, including structures engineers, systems engineers, field service representatives, spares personnel and maintenance engineers. Here, Rapid Response Center personnel at Boeing Customer Services in Seattle, videoconference with their colleagues at a satellite office in Everett, Wash.

###