

Air China's First Boeing Next-Generation 737-800 Takes To The Air

Air China's First Boeing Next-Generation 737-800 Takes To The Air

Air China's first Boeing Next-Generation 737-800 takes off from Boeing Field in Seattle, Wash. Air China - the flag carrier of the People's Republic of China (PRC) - took delivery of its first of 11 Boeing Next-Generation 737-800s ordered in 1997 and 1998. Air China plans to use the new airplane on domestic and regional routes.

###
