

Boeing Continues to Work with Baan

The Boeing Company said today that it is confident that Baan, the Dutch software manufacturer, will continue to meet its commitments to Boeing despite Baan's recent disappointing earnings report.

Baan software was selected by Boeing in 1994 to support its process improvement objectives. Baan has also worked with Boeing to meet its enterprise resource planning (ERP) requirements. Boeing continues to benefit from the implementation of Baan products and services.

Baan is a valued supplier and works with Boeing to provide products that meet its business requirements. Boeing has a complimentary, broad base of resources that are able to maintain existing Baan products.
