Boeing Fighters of the Future Debut at Farnborough Air Show

The Boeing Joint Strike Fighter full-scale model was unveiled this week at the Farnborough International 2000 air show outside London. The model shows the aircraft Boeing will produce -- initially for the U.S. Air Force, Marine Corps, Navy and the U.K. Royal Air Force and Navy -- should the company win the ongoing JSF competition.

###