Hapag-Lloyd's Boeing 737-800 Shows Off Its Winglets

German airline Hapag-Lloyd has become the first carrier in the world to fly a Boeing Next-Generation 737-800 with advanced-technology winglets. Winglets are designed to decrease fuel consumption, noise and emissions, and boost performance.

###

For further information:
Cheryl Addams
(206) 766-2919
Carrie Thearle
(425) 234-6194