

Turkmenistan Airlines' Boeing 717-200 to be Displayed at Moscow Air Show

On display at the Moscow Air Show this year will be a Turkmenistan Airlines Boeing 717-200. This brand new airplane is the first of three to be delivered to the carrier this year. The standard 717-200 has a two-class configuration with 106 seats. Its passenger-pleasing interior features a five-across seating arrangement in economy class, with illuminated handrails and large overhead stowbins. Turkmenistan Airlines has configured its 717s for 110 passengers.
