Boeing JSF: No Promises, Just Facts

The Boeing approach to developing the Joint Strike Fighter is shown through footage taken of its efforts during the concept demonstration program. The video demonstrates how Boeing:

- Reduced program risk during the JSF concept demonstration program
- Used the same design, fabrication and lean manufacturing approach during the concept demonstration program that it will use in the JSF engineering and manufacturing development phase of the program
- Is leveraging the best of military and commercial practices to set a new standard of affordability
