

Boeing Delta II Launch of Iridium Satellites Scrubbed

Boeing Delta II Launch of Iridium Satellites Scrubbed

Boeing [NYSE:BA] officials scrubbed today's launch of a Boeing Delta II rocket because of high surface winds at the launch pad.

A second launch attempt will be made tomorrow, Saturday, February 9, 2002. The launch from Vandenberg Air Force Base's Space Launch Complex 2 is scheduled for 9:54 a.m. PST.

A Boeing Delta II is scheduled to deploy five communications satellites for Iridium Satellite LLC.

###

For further information:

Glen Golightly

Boeing Launch Services

Office: (714) 372-4742 Cell: (714) 642-1913

robert.g.golightly@boeing.com

Anne Eisele

Boeing Space and Communications

Office: (562) 797-1022

anne.f.eisele@boeing.com

Andrew Balfour

Iridium Satellite LLC

Office: (202) 466-8833 x450 Cell: (703) 867-3438

abalfour@iridium.com
