Kenya Airways Flies First 737-700 Winglets in Africa

A Boeing 737-700 with winglets was delivered this month to Kenya Airways, a Nairobi based carrier now operating an all Boeing fleet. The airplane, one of three airplane models ordered by the airline, will serve a network of passenger and cargo services to destinations throughout Africa. Kenya Airways became the first airline in Africa to operate a 737-700 with blended winglets.
