

Boeing Painter Adds Final Flair to 777-300ER

Boeing decorative painter Gary Morrill puts the finishing touches on the new Boeing 777-300ER (extended range) airplane. Traditional elements of the Boeing Commercial Airplanes' livery -- straight red, white and blue lines that run horizontally along the fuselage -- take a drastically new direction on the 777-300ER: They go under the belly of the airplane.

###

For further information:

Debbie Heathers

office: 425-342-2902

Ken DeJarlais

kenneth.r.dejarlais@boeing.com
