

New 777-300ER Joins Family of Popular Airplanes

Boeing decorative painter Jim Putnam puts final touches on the new Boeing 777-300ER (extended range) airplane, which sports a creative paint scheme of a world map on both sides of the forward section. Displayed on the map are major city pairs reachable with the 777-300ER. The paint scheme captures the mystique of the 777 airplanes, which accounts for why the new 777-300ER joins a family of twin-aisle airplanes that remain the fastest-selling in the world.
