

Boeing Delivers Singapore Airlines 50th 777

Singapore Airlines became the world's second largest Boeing [NYSE: BA] 777 operator and largest non-U.S. 777 operator this week with the delivery of its 50th 777. The airplane, a 777-200ER, joins 41 other 777-200s and eight 777-300s in the Singapore Airlines' fleet. Singapore Airlines first ordered the 777 in 1995 when the airline placed a firm order for 28 of the world's largest twin jets. Singapore Airlines continued to add firm orders in subsequent years and has now ordered 59 Boeing 777s to date.

###

For further information:

Boeing Commercial Airplanes Communications

(206) 766-2910

Ken DeJarlais

kenneth.r.dejarlais@boeing.com
