

Japan Airlines Joins in Development of New Boeing Service

Japan Airlines Joins in Development of New Boeing Service

Japan Airlines joins Air France and American Airlines in a four-month pre-release test of Airplane Health Management, a new data-monitoring and prognostic service developed by Boeing Commercial Aviation Services. The in-flight airplane monitoring system is designed to help airlines reduce flight schedule interruptions. The testing will ensure availability for more airlines during the first half of 2004.

###

For further information:

Jill Langer

office: 206-544-8237

jill.e.langer@boeing.com

Ken Dejarlais

kenneth.r.dejarlais@boeing.com
