AirTran Airways and Boeing join in 'pull for charity' event

AirTran Airways crew members, executives and Boeing executives, including Harry Stonecipher, yellow shirt middle, participate in an airplane “pull for charity” last evening outside Seattle 's Museum of Flight. Also lending a hand were 20 children from CHRIS Kids, Inc., an Atlanta-based charity for victimized youth. The group pulled the new 737-700 65 feet, raising $65,000 for the charity.

###

For further information:
Nicolaas Groeneveld-Meijer
International & Sales Communications
206-766-2229
Sandy Angers
Communications/Public Relations - 737/757 Programs
425-237-3657
Ken DeJarlais
kenneth.r.dejarlais@boeing.com