Boeing Statement on Darleen Druyun Sentencing

The Boeing Company today issued the following statement after the sentencing of Darleen Druyun:

The statements Ms. Druyun made in her sentencing papers came as a total surprise to The Boeing Company.

We have worked diligently with the U.S. Attorney's office to investigate the circumstances of Ms. Druyun's hiring, and we will continue to do so. Further, we will work with any and all government agencies that have concerns about the actions of Ms. Druyun or The Boeing Company.

"I have the highest confidence in the integrity and systems of The Boeing Company, and we will exert all energy to address any inadequacies that need to be corrected," said Harry Stonecipher, Boeing president and CEO. "Whatever we find, we have the will and a process to deal with it."
