Development Work on Boeing 787 Noses Ahead

The first 787 Dreamliner nose section has been completed in Wichita, Kan. The section, a single composite part with a high degree of contour, is one element of the development activity being conducted to prove manufacturing techniques for the allnew jetliner. The team will cut doors and windows in the weeks ahead and conduct thorough testing to ensure that all expectations for reliability and accuracy are met.

###

For further information: Lori Gunter 1-425-717-0571