

UPS Orders Additional Boeing 767 Freighters

Boeing [NYSE: BA] and UPS, the world's largest package delivery company, have finalized the carrier's third order for Boeing 767-300ER (Extended Range) Freighters. UPS, the freighter's launch customer in 1993, is ordering 27 airplanes to join its existing fleet of 32 767Fs, with deliveries from 2009 through 2013. The new order pushes the total number of 767s ordered to date to 1,005 airplanes, including 77 freighters. UPS has eight 747-400 Freighters and two 747-400BCFs (Boeing Converted Freighters) on order.
