New Boeing 787 Dreamliner Gets its Wings

Final assembly continues on the first all-new Boeing 787 Dreamliner with the installation of the wings earlier this month. This photo, taken June 5, shows both wings in the join position. The 787 team is making steady progress with final assembly, which began in Everett, Wash., on May 21. The airplane stands in "position one," which is where all the major body joins take place. The 787 will roll out on July 8, 2007.

###

For further information:
787 Communications
425-294-6101