Boeing Australia Limited Opens Nowra Office

Boeing Australia Limited, Australia's leading aerospace company specialising in the installation and support of systems for defence and commercial customers, today opened a new regional office in Nowra to strengthen its support of the Royal Australian Navy and develop new customer relationships.

The opening of the Nowra office demonstrates the proactive approach Boeing Australia Limited is taking to improve its customer responsiveness and attract new business opportunities that will sustain the organisation's future growth.

Speaking at the opening, Boeing Australia Limited's Aerospace Support Vice President and General Manager Tony Trew, said, "The mission of our new field office is to meet our customers' operational needs and establish a capability and presence whereby Boeing Australia Limited can provide customer support while increasing our understanding of their requirements. The message is: 'We want to be near, and we want to be available.'

"Our customers have identified that there is a clear shift in the way they are engaging their service providers," added Trew. "They are looking to improve inefficiencies and streamline their relationships with their partners. With our proven capability, Boeing Australia Limited has recognised that our presence in the Shoalhaven region can provide a one-stop-shop for all of our customers."

Boeing Australia Limited, a wholly-owned subsidiary that reports to Boeing Support Systems, is a high-technology aerospace company specialising in installation and support of systems for defence and commercial customers. It is one of the leading aerospace companies in Australia, employing 2,400 people across 14 sites. A unit of The Boeing Company, Boeing Integrated Defense Systems is one of the world's largest space and defense businesses specializing in innovative and capabilities-driven customer solutions.
