Boeing Completes Eight-hour Flight of A160T Hummingbird

The A160T Hummingbird flies during its eight-hour flight Sept. 26 near Victorville, Calif., carrying a 1,000-pound payload module for the first time. The Hummingbird used just half of its maximum fuel capacity so it could have flown many more hours.

###

For further information:
Chris Haddox
Advanced Systems
The Boeing Company
office: (314) 234-6447
chris.d.haddox@boeing.com
Robert Villanueva
Advanced Systems
The Boeing Company
office: (562) 496-5688
robert.s.villanueva@boeing.com