Boeing Delivers Okay Airways' First 737-800 on Lease from AWAS

The Boeing Company [NYSE: BA] yesterday delivered a Boeing Next-Generation 737-800 to Tianjin-based Okay Airways Company Ltd., the Peoples' Republic of China's first private airline. The new airplane, which is the seventh Boeing 737 in Okay Airways' fleet, is under lease from AWAS.

This 737-800 is the first new-airplane delivery for Okay Airways and the first new-airplane delivery in four years for AWAS, an aircraft leasing company based in Dublin, Ireland.
