Boeing Names New General Manager for Portland Site

SEATTLE, Aug. 17 /PRNewswire-FirstCall/ -- Perry Moore has been named general manager of Boeing Fabrication's Portland manufacturing site, effective immediately. In his new role, Moore also serves as the site executive within the State of Oregon working with government and community agencies and representing Boeing. Moore reports to Ross Bogue, vice president and general manager of Boeing Fabrication, a Boeing Commercial Airplanes organization.

The Boeing Portland site, located in Gresham, Ore., serves as the manufacturing center of excellence for fabrication and assembly operations of complex machining, gear systems and end-item pilot controls for Commercial Airplanes.
