Boeing Launches New Boeing Business Jet Services Bundle with Customer Metrojet

New services bundle offers customers a tailored solution for Boeing Business Jet support

Metrojet signs five-year agreement for new services bundle

GENEVA, May 21, 2019 — Boeing [NYSE: BA] today launched a new Boeing Business Jet (BBJ) services bundle and signed the first multiyear agreement for this service with Hong Kong-based business jet operator Metrojet.

The new services bundle provides essential digital aviation tools for BBJ flight and maintenance crews which includes 24/7 technical support, onboard performance tools and maintenance planning data, all tailored to meet customer needs.

“We are very delighted to see Boeing bundle the tools to enhance the administration and execution efficiency,” said Gary Dolski, Metrojet CEO. “At Metrojet, we are committed to providing the utmost service and convenience to our customers. This new agreement with Boeing will allow us to strengthen the services we provide, and promote the service our customers expect and deserve.”

Metrojet’s five-year agreement for the new services bundle will streamline procurement of the products and services needed to reliably and efficiently operate their BBJ fleet.

“We are thrilled to provide this comprehensive services solution for Boeing Business Jet customers,” said William Ampofo, vice president of Business & General Aviation for Boeing Global Services. “Readiness is critical, and this solution creates a true one-stop shop for customers like Metrojet to get the support they need to keep their jets in peak operation.”
