Boeing and GAMECO Sign First Comprehensive Materials Management Agreement in China

- The contract expands Boeing's regional presence as the first Integrated Materials Management partnership in mainland China

DALLAS, July 18, 2022 — Boeing [NYSE: BA] and Guangzhou Aircraft Maintenance Engineering Co., Ltd. (GAMECO) signed a 5-year Integrated Materials Management (IMM) program contract. The agreement marks the first time Boeing will provide a comprehensive materials-management solution in mainland China.

Boeing's new 5-year program will provide demand planning, on-site personnel, and logistics services to support GAMECO's operations to optimize materials purchase and inventory costs and also improve production service levels. This contract further expands the partnership between Boeing and GAMECO, which have worked together on passenger-to-freighter conversions for standard and wide-body aircraft, including the 737-800 Boeing Converted Freighter (BCF) and 767-300BCF lines as well as 777/737 landing gear overhaul. GAMECO's performance has helped Boeing improve and expand conversion services to customers worldwide. In addition, the cooperation has helped GAMECO strengthen its maintenance capabilities and achieve strategic priorities.

"Boeing's Inventory Management Program is data-based and tailored to the needs of GAMECO," said GAMECO General Manager Norbert Marx. "This program will secure the availability of parts and material in a timely and cost-efficient way while reducing our inventory holding costs. GAMECO is excited to enter into this smart program with Boeing to the benefit of better support to China Southern Airlines and our broad domestic and international airline customer base."

"We continue to leverage our BGS capabilities and strengths to build packaged offerings that address the value propositions most important to our customers," said Mini Desai, vice president of Commercial Spares and Managed Parts, Boeing Global Services. "China is a strategic and important market for BGS. This partnership will enable us to better serve our customer base in China and provide solutions as market demands increase in the future."
